The Principles of Naturopathy

Find the Cause
To accurately select the correct course of treatment the specific cause must be determined.

Utilize the Healing Power of Nature
This healing power exists in each person and is also found in the gifts provided by nature as the nutrients in our foods from a vast array of sources.

Treat the Whole Person
Treatments solely focused on symptom relief may not address all the factors as they relate to the core issues. Many components can impact an individual's health concerns, going beyond what appear to be the direct causes.

Do No Harm
By providing nutrients, not drugs or other treatments, the body has what it needs to re-establish the health of the individual without any 'cost'.
