The average Japanese lifespan is 83 years—that's the highest in the world! And in Okinawa, islands 1,000 miles south of Tokyo, people live even longer than that!

The reason suggested for this longevity is the Okinawan diet, a rich combination of fish, soy-based products, and Okinawan vegetables—like goya (bitter melon).

And now you too can enjoy these rich super-nutrients every day... with Okinawa Life!
