Kudzu, also referred to as ge-gen, has long been used in Chinese health practices for its naturally-derived benefits. This formula contains a high-quality blend of both Kudzu root and Kudzu extract. The root contains naturally occurring isoflavones such as daidzein, and isoflavone glycosides, such as daidzin and puerarin. Our Kudzu Root extract is standardized to 1% daidzein, one of the active constituents in the herb. Isoflavones such as daidzein provide natural benefits through their healthy properties. By scientifically isolating active constituents, we ensure that they remain in consistent concentration levels with each dose.
