Linix Time Release is a patent pending system that delivers consistent nutrition to the body over 24 hours. This is important because nutrients in non-time release and non-linear time release products may be digested and excreted before the body receives full benefit. Chrono C_{TR} releases a consistent amount of buffered vitamin C every hour for 24 hours.*

Linix Time Release products releases a consistent amount of buffered vitamin C for 24 hours.

Non-Linear Time Release and Non-Time Release products may not release nutrients in a way the body can best absorb or use them.

Chrono C_{TR} time release statements are based on in vitro release studies.
