Although we don't realize it, carbohydrate metabolism (the processing and utilization of glucose in the body) often dictates the way our bodies look and feel. If we're not in control of this function, there is little chance of effectively gaining control of weight, diabetes, obesity, or metabolic syndrome. The process of carbohydrate metabolism involves 7 major metabolic pathways. Unless all seven of these pathways are properly managed, something will be askew. Unlike any other product in the marketplace, GC7X's core ingredient Emulin™ is formulated to address and impact each of these 7 key steps based on years of intense clinical research.
