Mannatech's PLUS caplets can help keep your endocrine system healthy. A healthy endocrine system produces a full array of hormones that can regulate your cells and organs. Using our Real Food Technology solutions, we created a blend of herbs and amino acids in PLUS caplets to help your body produce the hormones it needs to stay balanced and functioning optimally.*

Formulated with a unique blend of standardized nutrients, like those found in wild yam root, our PLUS caplets support your health in these areas:

Furnishes raw materials for endocrine support.*

Supplies amino acids to help support the endocrine system.*

Supports breast, prostate, bone and colon health.*

Supports the health of the immune, nervous and cardiovascular systems.*

Our PLUS Product Fills in the Gaps

Your endocrine system is very busy and, ultimately, influences almost every cell, organ and function of your body. When we don't eat right, we can miss out on important nutrients like plant sterols and amino acids that help keep our systems functioning well. Our PLUS caplets fill in the missing nutrients and give your body the crucial support it needs.*
