HyalTegreen™ was designed to be utilized in conjunction with hypoxic flow oxygen training methods and provides specific nutrients needed to support the production and regeneration of red blood cells. High altitude training is known to influence oxygen uptake and utilization and increase the efficiency of cellular energy. HyalTegreen also contains nutrients with vasodilation effects, which further promotes oxygen delivery to muscle tissue and accelerates the removal of metabolic waste byproducts such as lactic acid. These active ingredients considerably improve altitude training performance, and recovery as well as overall health.
