ed orally, the absorption (bioavailability) of regular curo is quite poor. The reason is that curcumin is relatively insoluble in water and is rapidly transformed and excreted from the body. Poor absorption has been a reason why not all clinical studies have shown regular curcumin to be effective, even when extremely large doses were given

But CurcuminRich contains Theracumin - a natural preparation that utilizes advanced techniques to reduce the particle size of curcumin within a vegetable gum (gum ghatti) to dramatically increase its solubility and bioavaliability. Detailed absorption studies have proven that Theracumin is the best-absorbed form of curcumin on the market.* This improved absorption with Theracumin is extremely important in getting the health
