

Leading experts have agreed on the fact that many diseases, and often even death, are caused by mineral deficiencies. According to Senate Document #264, 99% of Americans suffer from mineral imbalances. Our physical well-being is directly dependent upon the minerals we consume.

NATURE'S MOST DIGESTIBLE SOURCE OF PURE MINERALS

Angstrom is a unit used in measuring the length of light waves. Angstrom minerals are in the purest form and are one hundred million times smaller than colloidal minerals making them the most digestible source of minerals available today. The average absorption rate for most of the minerals on the market (colloidal, ionic, etc.) in adults is approximately 10% and even less if digestive problems are present. All of the Angstrom Minerals penetrate to the DNA which means they can cross the blood/brain barrier to supply energy directly to the brain. What's unique about these minerals is the fact they are totally water soluble - which simply means what the body doesn't need it will excrete!

Due to the purity and concentration of this product, it has no expiration date. The minerals are naturally preserved, contain no bacteria and do not lose potency over time. Minor crystallization may occur, but this does not affect the quality of this product.
