

All Natural Purification

Bentonite is a volcanic ash. It is not a drug or a chemical composition made in a laboratory by man, but instead, is a product manufactured completely by nature. It can consume 500 times its weight in toxic substances!

Unique Characteristics

- Large variety of minerals and trace elements
- Negative ionic electrical charge which attracts positively charged particles (free radicals & toxic poisons)
- Bentonite has a large surface area in proportion to the volume used, enabling it again, to attract many times its own weight in toxins that are positively charged
- Stimulates the evacuation of toxic and non-useful elements

Maximize Effectiveness

To obtain maximum effectiveness for internal use, it must be put in a liquid colloidal state. In a suspended liquid state, its power to absorb is far greater and more active than Bentonite clay in tablet or capsule form.

“Death Begins In The Colon”

The colon is a sewage system and if not properly treated, it becomes a cesspool full of sickness and disease. When it is clean and normal, we are happy and well.

Intestinal Purification Via Alimentary Canal

The use of volcanic ashes or clay internally is as old as civilization. Primitive tribes use it to prevent sick stomach or toxicity. They carried it with them and used it on their foods to prevent sickness.

Ingredients:

Pure water, Colloidal Bentonite (U.S. Pharmaceutical Grade)

Suggested Use:

One teaspoon for each 50 lbs. of body weight. Take twice per day. In the morning, mix with 4 oz. warm water or juice. In the evening, take undiluted. For best results, drink 48 oz. of pure water a day to assist in elimination of acids and toxins through the kidneys. Because Dr. LaMar’s Liquid Bentonite is a leaching agent, a person shouldn’t take more than 50 percent of their body weight at any one time. The suggested amount may be taken for as long as necessary to achieve desired results.
