

A cultured extract of hybridized medicinal mushroom mycelia (roots), AHCC® is one of the world's most researched specialty immune supplements, supported by over 20 human clinical studies. Studies on AHCC have been conducted at some of the finest research institutions worldwide, including highly regarded Ivy League universities and major health centers.

AHCC has been shown to:

- Maintain optimal NK cell activity*
- Enhance cytokine production*
- Promote optimal T-cell activity*
- Promote optimal macrophage activity*
- Increase the activity & number of dendritic cells*

Unlike most other medicinal mushroom extracts, AHCC has a very low molecular weight of just 5,000 daltons and is rich in alpha-glucans — increasing absorption and efficacy. Because of its superior supporting research, AHCC is used by an estimated 1,000 clinics worldwide.
