What is testosterone and how does it work?

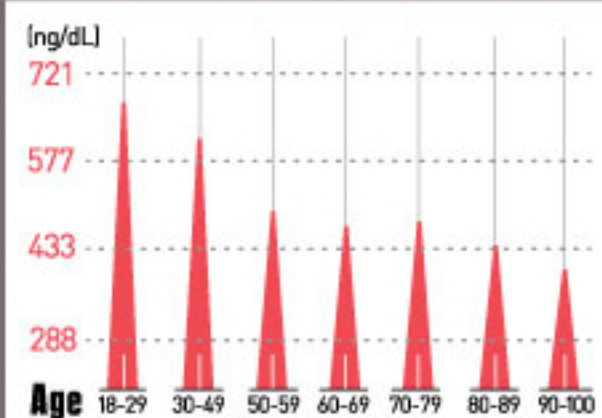

Testosterone is the hormone responsible for normal growth and development.* It also affects lean body mass and mood.* It is the primary hormone responsible for muscle building.* Normal levels will vary with age and individual health factors.*

Age-related signs of Low Testosterone

- Lower Energy and Appetite
- Reduced Strength
- Increasing Abdominal Fat
- Less Lean Muscle
- Reduced Mental Focus

Testosterone decreases as we age

As men age they typically experience a steady decline in Total Testosterone — about 1% each year after middle age.

Total Testosterone

Mdrive is designed to support healthy testosterone levels in the normal range.*
