When you are still in the womb, your body determines how much testosterone it will tolerate and creates a "set point" in your endocrine system to reflect it. When your testosterone levels exceed this set point, your endocrine system will get the message to temporarily shut down testosterone production until your levels fall back within range. This is what endocrinologists refer to as a "feedback loop."

While other tongkat ali products suggest a 5-day cycle to avoid triggering this feedback loop, TONGKAT OVERLOAD is so aggressive that we suggest a cycle that only lasts 2 days.

TONGKAT OVERLOAD allows you to enjoy higher testosterone levels every day - without jeopardizing your natural testosterone production.
