Cell Protection When You Need it Most

Health and longevity require protection from oxidative damage at a deep cellular level. CuraMed® + Black Mustard Seed delivers clinically studied curcumin plus a minimum of 25% glucosinolates from black mustard seed for a broad spectrum of synergistic support.*

Both ingredients are critical partners that stop the process of harmful DNA damage from free radicals. With CuraMed + Black Mustard Seed, you can keep your defenses strong, to experience optimal health for years to come.*

Broad Spectrum Serious Support

Black Mustard Seed is a member of the cruciferous vegetable family that includes kale, Brussels sprouts, and broccoli. Its seeds are a potent source of beneficial compounds called glucosinolates. One of the most important of these compounds is sinigrin. In the body, sinigrin is converted into cell-protecting AITC (allyl-isothiocyanate), and plays a critical role in health and longevity.*

Clinically Studied Curcumin blends the active compound from turmeric with turmeric essential oil (a source of turmerones) for superior absorption and even stronger benefits. Its effectiveness has been widely researched and it is highly regarded for its support of optimal cellular development.*
