Purified in a triphala decoction, guggulu resin (Commiphora mukul) is a penetrating herb that scrapes out naturally accumulating toxins from the body channels. It is renowned for its ability to carry other herbs with it deep into the tissues. Guggulu's powerful detoxifying and rejuvenating qualities are directed to specific systems of the body by the herbs that accompany it. As such, it is the basis for an entire class of traditional Ayurvedic formulas known as guggulus. Its scraping action helps maintain healthy cholesterol levels already in the normal range.*
