Supplementation with DHEA (dehydroepiandrosterone) provides multiple health benefits to the body, including helping to maintain a healthy hormone balance.† DHEA is a natural hormone made by the body. This hormone is secreted by the adrenal glands. The adrenal glands' main function is to release hormones in response to stress and physical activity.† DHEA is the precursor to female and male sex hormones known as estrogen and androgens. For many people, the production of DHEA begins to decrease around the age of 30.†
