

Astaxanthin is a naturally occurring carotenoid that, due to its unique structure, performs an important role in cellular free radical protection. Astaxanthin is one of nature's most powerful antioxidants. Wild salmon, krill and shrimp derive their pink color from a diet rich in microalgae - a critical source of astaxanthin. Nature's Lab uses AstaREAL® Astaxanthin, one of the most studied brands of astaxanthin in the world. It is non-GMO Haematococcus pluvialis micro algae and is farmed in the U.S.A. to ensure both quality and stability.
