

The Sunfood™ Difference

Liposomal Immune Boost is a special liquid formula designed to support the immune system.*

Liposomes are used to coat micro particles of the active ingredients into fat soluble materials resembling micro bubbles. These bubbles are just a few millionths of an inch in diameter, allowing them to slide through the gut lining without being digested.

The bubbles easily enter the blood stream and are available to the cells of the body as needed. The nutrients are delivered directly into the cell while the liposomal coating is used by the cell wall or for other functions within the cell.

This technology is a huge advance in both efficiency and effectiveness of supplemental nutrients.
