Non-GMO

Breast & Hormonal Health as Nature Intended

Brevail supplies lignans, natural compounds, ingested in seeds, grains, beans, fruits, and vegetables throughout human history.

Research suggests that our bodies use natural plant lignans, now sparse in the modern diet, to safely and gently buffer and balance excess estrogens.*

Brevail was university researched and developed to increase lignan concentrations in the body to match levels found in women who collectively demonstrate an extraordinary history of breast health and hormonal balance.*

Brevail is a one-of-a-kind natural plant extract supported by university research for safety and efficacy in women.*
