

Ketone bodies (ketones) are energy sources that are produced and burned under special metabolic conditions such as starvation and high fat (ketogenic) diets. Ketones are a super fuel that can be efficiently used by the muscles and the brain, where they generate more energy (ATP) per unit of oxygen consumed than do carbohydrates, protein, or fat.

KetoForce contains 11.7 grams of the ketone body Beta-Hydroxybutyrate (BHB) per serving. Consumption of KetoForce before exercise can result in significant decreases in oxygen demand and increases in performance.

KetoForce may also heighten mental acuity and performance.

KetoForce is excellent for ketogenic dieters who need energy but must limit carbohydrate intake. KetoForce may also be used by individuals who consume carbohydrates to provide an additional energy source and limit exercise induced glycogen depletion.

KetoForce is an alkaline (high pH) liquid so it is advisable to mix with an acidic beverage before consuming
