HEARTBURN TEA

Is your heart burning — in a special, gastrointestinal way? Organic Heartburn Tea is a soothing mellow mint blend of marshmallow root, lemon balm, chamomile and spearmint, with astringent red raspberry leaf. Formulated for pregnancy with herbs traditionally used to relieve occasional heartburn, acid reflux, and indigestion.* Not pregnant? It'll still help: this tea feels super-settling after meals — feel free to tell your dad.

HERBAL TEA HOW-TO

Pour boiling water over one tea bag. Steep 5-10 minutes. Sip 1-4 cups per day, or as recommended by your healthcare provider.

IT'S NOT FLUFF

Marshmallow (Althaea officinalis) root is gooey, sure, but otherwise nothing like the thing you roast on a stick! It's been used for centuries to help ease and coat the digestive tract, like a nice comfy little blanket.

UGH, PREGNANCY HEARTBURN. It's the worst. Heartburn is the worst in general, but pregnancy heartburn is just...unjust. We're sorry. Here. We made this for you.

We know. Your stomach seems like the size of a small walnut right now — a cracker could send you over the edge. It's OK. It's all for a good cause.
