

M-Drive is the most advanced fuel for your body

Ingredients in M-Drive have been shown to increase testosterone levels and energy at a cellular level. M-Drive is a natural supplement created for men who want to perform at their highest level. Developed with intensive research, M-Drive uses the most effective natural ingredients. When taken daily, M-Drive increases strength, stamina, sex drive, muscle mass, recovery, respiration and focus. M-Drive is the most advanced fuel for your body.

M-Drive contains very specific, powerful extracts from the Fenugreek Seed and Cordyceps Mushroom (see side panel). When further combined in this synergistic blend, the result is a formulation that strengthens the adrenal glands and provides fuel for the body to build on.

Fenugreek - The seed

"M-Drive contains Testofen™" - a Fenugreek Seed Extract clinically proven to promote healthy free testosterone levels by allowing men to naturally regain what they've been losing without the need for costly hormone therapy. The only side effect - an increase in sexual desire. Could be worse.

Cordyceps - The mushroom

In human cardiovascular studies, cordyceps enhanced blood supply to the organs and extremities, specifically increasing blood supply to the brain, and defending the heart against stress. Cordyceps also helped maintain or support healthy cholesterol activity.

Sustains energy - No caffeine buzz

The ingredients in M-Drive increase both cellular ATP levels and oxygen utilization. ATP is a molecule that releases energy. This is a real increase in actual energy available to the body unlike the perceived energy that occurs from CNS stimulants like caffeine, ephedrine and amphetamines, which ultimately result in an energy deficiency. Using Cordyceps, the double effect of increased ATP and better oxygen utilization go hand in hand providing more fuel to burn.

M-Drive's synergistic blend also features: Maitake Extract, Maca Extract, American Ginseng Extract, Damiana Extract

M-Drive contains no hormones or steroids
