Supports gut health to combat endotoxins.*

Supports the glandular system.*

Berberine helps to activate the key enzyme which regulates the body's normal glucose metabolism. This enzyme switches your cells from 'idle' to 'on' and aids their ability to use glucose properly. Berberine also supports healthy gut performance to help combat endotoxins which can interfere with normal glucose metabolism. Berberine is an excellent option for those looking to begin a blood glucose management program or to enhance their existing regimen. Support your body's ability to metabolize blood sugar with Berberine.*

Do not use if inner seal is missing or damaged.
