Trying to get pregnant? Let our Red Raspberry Leaf Tea help you!

Best known as "the woman's herb", red raspberry leaf tea contains the alkaloid, fragrine, which can help strengthen the uterus as well as the pelvic area. Red raspberry leaf is known to ease menstrual discomfort, improve reproductive health; balance hormones to increase fertility, improve chances of implantation, prevent miscarriage by strengthening and toning the uterine wall. The uterus needs a lot of vitamins and minerals to function properly and red raspberry leaf tea has almost all of them. Red raspberry leaf is high in Vitamins and also minerals like magnesium, potassium, calcium, and phosphorus. It also contains essential trace minerals such as zinc, iron, chromium and manganese. These vitamins and minerals are in a readily absorbable form, making Red Raspberry Leaf tea a wonderful, food-based "supplement" during preconception, pregnancy and beyond.
