GINGER NAUSEA™ TEA

Look. We'll be straight with you: nausea is the worst. Not cute in the least. We're sure whoever invented it had good intentions, but in the meantime, here — let's let Organic Ginger Nausea Tea do her thing. A blend of ginger-minty herbs traditionally used to help curb occasional nausea, this 100% organic tea is formulated to be safe for anyone experiencing a case of poops-I-might-lose-my-lunch-itis. We're talking everyone — from kids to pregnant mamas (hi, "morning" sickness, we're looking at you). Ginger root joins forces with chamomile, lemon balm, a hint of mint and a twist of orange to help ease the quease and bring you back from whatever took you to the brink.

HERBAL TEA HOW-TO

Pour boiling water over one tea bag. Steep 5-10 minutes. Sip 1-2 cups per day, or as recommended by your healthcare provider.

TEAM WORK MAKES THE DREAM WORK

Each herb in this tea was intentionally chosen because of how it works synergistically with the others in the formulation, amplifying their efficacy like a little symphony. It's like the colleagues who hang out together after work. They like each other — and that makes their job seamless.

Because life comes in waves. And while it'd be cool, we're not exactly born knowing how to surf.

It's for your kiddo who gets the queasies. Or your partner whose belly needs a pep talk. Like we said: it's for everyone.
