Serving Suggestion: Under 200lbs: 3 Caplets
Over 200lbs: 4 Caplets

βIG βLUE™ welcomes you to the new age of intense muscle pumps with nearly unending endurance!

Nitric Oxide (N.O.) supplements are now well established and considered a must by many. Engorging muscle pumps look and feel great. However, N.O. has a limited ability to flush lactic acid build-up that causes fatigue and failure. Therefore, you can never push your muscle beyond natural failure points — That is where accelerated growth occurs.

*βIG βLUE™ applies the latest supplement technology to extend each and every set performed to a new level. β-Alanine (Beta-Alanine) with L-Histidine increases the lactate threshold through increased intramuscular carnosine levels. Simply put – increased endurance yields more reps per set performed. As a result, βIG βLUE™ produces a wave of strength and endurance that rips deep into muscle fibers signaling emergency growth and repair.

WARNING: For adult use only. Taking this product may cause tingling and flushing sensations. These sensations may be enhanced if taken close to or during exercise. Diabetics, women who are nursing, individuals being treated for high blood pressure or serum glucose control or erectile dysfunction, individuals who are thiamin deficient or on prescription drugs, should consult their physician before using this product. Not intended for use by individuals under the age of 18 years.
