This product is a botanical and nutritional blend formulated to naturally support a healthy adrenal stress response.* The adrenal glands help the body respond and adjust to physical, mental, and emotional stressors through the production of cortisol.* When stress becomes a part of everyday life, cortisol and blood sugar, and consequently appetite and body weight, may become difficult to manage.* This product combines nutritional factors such as vitamin C, pantothenic acid, and chromium with Relora™, a proprietary herbal combination, to support healthy adrenal function, relieve stress, and promote healthy eating patterns.*
