Damage Control is designed to give you an edge in managing the stresses of life. This unique formula helps you fill the micronutrient gaps that exist in even the healthiest of diets and under the best of exercise regimens. With 52 different high-powered vitamins, minerals, antioxidants, phytonutrients and essential cofactors, it is unparalleled in the natural health world. Every nutrient within has been shown in research to positively impact health at some level. More importantly, the lack of some of these nutrients has been shown to negatively affect health. Damage Control can help make up for that lack.

Damage Control is a "fractal" formula; you can take as much or as little as you need on any given day, depending simply on how you feel. There is no right or wrong dosage, since each capsule contains a proportion of everything on the label.

Suggested Use: For best results take 1-6 capsules with food once or twice a day, depending on how you feel. Up to 12 capsules a day may be taken on particularly stressful days.

The FDA has not reviewed this statement. This product is not intended to diagnose, cure, prevent or treat any disease. Pregnant or lactating women and people with known medical conditions should consult with a physician prior to taking supplements.
