*Probiotic 10 contains 10 distinct naturally-derived probiotic cultures. These cultures play an active role in aiding the body's natural digestive process.
*Probiotic 10 also contains 20 billion live probiotic cultures per serving.
*Probiotics not only support microbial balance of healthy intestinal flora, but assist in the body's natural digestive process, and contribute to immune function.
*Probiotics help support the absorption of nutrients.

Supporting intestinal health may be a contributing factor to immune health. Digestion is a complex process, transforming the food we eat into energy, while ridding our system of waste and toxins. Since approximately 70% of immune cells are located in the gastrointestinal system, gut health is not only important to digestion but is also involved in the overall performance of the immune system.
