Collagen is the fundamental structural protein found in joints, bones, skin, nails, and other connective tissues. It is responsible for maintaining the strength, elasticity, and flexibility of these tissues found throughout the body.

Our wild-caught marine collagen is made from the skin of deep sea, cold water species and is enzymatically hydrolyzed (broken down) into amino acid peptides in order to assist with absorption and bioavailability. When taken as a dietary supplement, regular consumption of the collagen peptides may provide the fundamental building blocks to help support healthy hair, skin, nails, joints & bones.*

Warnings: Keep out of reach of children. Consult with a licensed physician, pharmacist, naturopath or other qualified healthcare professional prior to taking dietary supplements.
