

Andrographis is made with AP-Bio® andrographis extract, which is specially formulated to 30% andrographolide content (60 mg per serving), making it the most potent andrographis extract available. Typically, other andrographis extracts are standardized to 10% or less.* Andrographolides are the primary bioactive constituents responsible for the immunomodulatory effects of the andrographis leaf.* The andrographolide immune boost presents in a multitude of ways including increased natural killer cell and phagocyte activity.* Andrographolides can also aid healthy immune response by antioxidant action and modulating cytokine activity which may support respiratory health.* Andrographis also contains Vitamin C and Zinc which may achieve respiratory comfort in a complementary manner, thus providing powerful immune support in the form of a tablet.*
