

The LEUKIC Advantage

Team MuscleTech researchers have been working tirelessly for over 10 years in search of the world's first 100% pure anabolic formula. A formula so powerful that in just one serving it could bypass the hormone/receptor anabolic mechanism and trigger muscle anabolism all on its own. A formula so potent it could stop muscle catabolism and protein breakdown in its tracks. That formula has arrived. It's called LEUKIC™, and it's redefining the way you build muscle and increase strength and performance.▲

The Formula • Hormones are involved in building muscle when they bind to receptors. The receptors then send a signal to the inside of the muscle fibers, telling them to grow. However, when you elevate one hormone, you cause others to increase or decrease, creating a hormonal mix that may work for a day but set your body back by weeks and even months through what scientists call the "negative feedback loop mechanism." Team MuscleTech researchers, however, have bypassed this hormonal loop. By activating the enzymatic complex responsible for transmitting the body's most powerful anabolic signal without elevating or decreasing hormonal levels, LEUKIC achieves what no other product can – 100% pure anabolism for hard, dense, permanent muscle growth.▲

LEUKIC activates the anabolic signals that hormones normally activate, without actually manipulating hormones themselves. This makes LEUKIC the most effective, powerful, and purely anabolic compound in existence. With one serving, you can immediately turn on the anabolic musclebuilding process and turn off catabolism. And you can do it any time you want, because LEUKIC works all the time, every time. This leads to gains in permanent, high-quality, dense muscle growth without any negative androgenic side effects – no water retention, no bloating, no receptor downgrade, and no temporary gains.▲

The Science • According to a clinical study published in the prestigious, American Journal of Physiology, Endocrinology and Metabolism, infusion of the key component of LEUKIC is associated with increased phosphorylation in skeletal muscle from human subjects at rest. In another journal, Clinical Nutrition and Metabolic Care, one researcher noted the unique ability of the key component of LEUKIC to stimulate protein synthesis in skeletal muscle. This groundbreaking study confirms the anabolic power of LEUKIC. The key component in LEUKIC functions outside of the hormone/receptor mechanism as an anabolic signal molecule that regulates protein synthesis (muscle growth). Nothing else can do what LEUKIC does to create an anabolic environment in the muscle.▲ With ongoing weight training.
