

Since before recorded history, our ancestors utilized whole-animal nutrition, where bone marrow was an essential part of traditional diets, prized for its nutrient density and ability to enable vitality. Enviromedica Bone Marrow is a whole food complex of grass-fed calf bone marrow and vitamin K2 from fermented natto, offering a biologically active source of fat soluble nutrients, stem cells, collagen, and nutritional cofactors. This ancient nutritional powerhouse plays a fundamental role in supporting whole body nutrition, including bone, connective tissue, cardiovascular, blood sugar, and immune health.*

OUR PROMISE

Premium foundational products to support the body's ancestral biology.

NEW ZEALAND — THE PREMIERE SOURCE

Enviromedica Bone Marrow is sourced exclusively from grass-fed livestock raised on the rich open pastures of New Zealand, where animal husbandry practices are globally considered second to none. Fresh calf bone marrow is gently freeze-dried to preserve biological activity and nutrient content.
