

Esmondnatural  Integrated Health

Nicotinamide Mononucleotide (NMN) has an important effect on the production of cellular energy and as the precursor to NAD⁺. NMN is a naturally occurring form of vitamin B3 in our body and can also be found in fruits and vegetables. When it comes to the production of NAD⁺, NMN plays an important role. Supplementation with NMN promotes positive effect on health, longevity and significantly improves quality of life as you age.*
