

Directions: As a dietary supplement, take one or more softgels daily.

Coenzyme Q10 is a substance that exists in the bodies of most animals and in almost every cell in the human body. CoQ10 helps convert food into energy. It is required for energy metabolism and functions as a powerful antioxidant, which can neutralize free radicals. CoQ10 also supports the immune system. Research suggests that CoQ10 may help support a healthy cardiovascular system, and can help prevent blood clot formation. It may also assist in controlling high blood pressure in people with diabetes. Additional research indicates possible benefits ranging from improved male fertility to the remediation of gum disease.[†]
