THE LILY DIFFERENCE

We harvest aloe from our own certified organic fields. → We safely process the aloe plants in our own facilities. → We bottle the aloe in-house to maintain quality control.

This allows us to meet the highest quality standards while keeping costs lower for you. Our goal is to 'retain the quality that nature created' with each step of our process. But we also take our product quality even further with:

Aloesorb: Science has shown that naturally-occurring polysaccharides are the driving force behind aloe's benefits. Aloesorb is a concentration of high quality aloe polysaccharides that we extract from our aloe through a proprietary process and has been clinically proven to assist with*†:

Aloesorb

- improving nutrient absorption
- supporting a healthy immune system
- reducing toxic levels of nitrates
- balancing digestion and stomach pH
- enhancing antioxidant support
- normal muscle and joint function

GRAS Certification: Our products are certified Generally Recognized As Safe by an expert research panel, giving you confidence that you can use our products daily.
