ARTHROLACTIN[®] contains a natural micro-protein called MicroLactin[™] that is derived from milk proteins. It has been found to provide faster, more effective levels of joint health and function. MicroLactin[™] increases blood vessel tightness, thereby limiting the amount of escaping white blood cells which can increase inflammation. In a study published in the journal Current Therapeutic Research, MicroLactin[™] was shown to be effective in reducing joint stiffness, pain and immobility. Another study published in the same journal found that MicroLactin[™] supplementation resulted in a 60% greater improvement when compared to glucosamine alone for overall joint function improvement.[†]
