ADRX is a scientifically-based formula delivering comprehensive nutritional support for healthy adrenal function. The adrenals are major endocrine glands in the body and produce a variety of hormones in response to both acute and chronic stress. The adrenals produce other hormones in the control of fluid and electrolyte (salt) balance and steroid hormones.

ADRX combines the benefits of Whole Adrenal and Adrenal Cortex in addition to a special mixture of botanicals to support the healthy function of adrenal glands and adrenal recovery. The ADRX formula delivers broad-spectrum nutritional support from standardized extracts of Ashwagandha, Cordyceps, Rhodiola, Astragalus, Bacopa and Magnolia. Panax Ginseng and Eleuthero function primarily as adaptogens supporting the overall health, including physical, chemical, physiological and biochemical factors.

ADRX is the most advanced and clinically validated formula available from MMSN engineered to provide maximum adrenal support for healthy individuals.
