Octopamine is known to exert edieneralic effects in mammals stimulating alpha(2)-advengceptors and stimulating fat breakdown through beta(3)-adrenoreceptors. NADH is the body's energy transporter. The NADH molecule is how the body transports energy during muscular contraction as well as countless other reactions. Adenosine is found in ATP the energy malecule in the body. Virgocetine has the ability to dilate blood vessels thereby enhancing circulation and auproving avygen utilization for support of fat use as energy. Viapocetine also has anticadant peoperties.
