

supports healthy blood circulation, helps to maintain healthy platelet function as well as normal blood circulation.

While there are supplements designed to help manage cholesterol or blood pressure levels, Fruitflow® is the first natural, scientifically-substantiated nutritional ingredient to help maintain healthy blood circulation. Derived from tomatoes, Fruitflow® establishes a major new product category in heart health for dietary supplements.

There are several factors that can seriously affect cardiovascular health, including elevated cholesterol levels, high blood pressure and impaired blood platelet function. Blood platelets can become "spiky" and more prone to clotting because of such factors as stress, smoking, obesity and high cholesterol. Fruitflow®'s proprietary technology offers a unique ingredient to support healthy platelet function and blood flow.

Several human studies, including a study published in the American Journal of Clinical Nutrition, have shown that Fruitflow® contributes to healthy blood circulation by maintaining normal platelet function. This has been shown in 97% of study participants. Seven human trials have also shown improved blood circulation in research participants. Research indicated that Fruitflow® started to work as quickly as 1.5 hours after supplementation and continued to enhance blood circulation for up to 12 hours.
