

The Ultimate Flora Probiotic Difference

Higher Culture Count

Ultimate Flora RTS Critical Care Probiotic is a high culture count, daily probiotic to restore digestive balance.* Each capsule has 50 billion live cultures of 12 strains of beneficial flora.*

One Capsule Per Day

= 50 BILLION

Why take 10 or more capsules of another probiotic when just one Ultimate Flora RTS Critical Care Probiotic capsule equals 50 billion live cultures!

Delayed Release Capsule

Stomach acid can destroy probiotics. Ultimate Flora delayed-release capsules are designed to resist stomach acid more than standard capsules.

No Refrigeration Required

Ultimate Flora RTS (Room Temperature Strains) capsules are conveniently sealed in a double-foil blister to shield the probiotics from moisture and oxygen, prolonging potency at room temperature. Refrigeration, while not required, can be helpful during summer months.

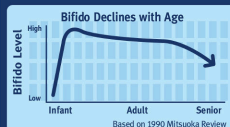

Superior Health Begins in the Digestive System*

How is Ultimate Flora Different?

Ultimate Flora RTS (Room Temperature Strains) Critical Care Probiotic contains 12 beneficial Bifido and Lacto probiotic strains working together to help optimize your digestive health.* Since you have many different strains of probiotics in your intestinal tract, more strains may be better.*

Why Take Ultimate Flora?

As we age, our level of Bifidobacteria declines. Total Ultimate Flora RTS Critical Care Probiotic contains 60% Bifido to help maintain a healthy digestive environment.*

What to Look For in a Critical Care Probiotic:

- ✓ At least 10 probiotic strains
- ✓ High culture count with Bifido and Lacto strains (B's and L's)
- ✓ Delayed release capsule
- ✓ Potency until time of consumption
