Both groups were put on an effective weight training program and made significant gains. However, one group used Super Charge® Xtreme 4.0 prior to training, the other did not. The SC4 group experienced significantly greater increases in total power that were 110% greater than the control group. The SC4 group also experienced bench press rate increases that were 39% greater than the control group. Clinical study conducted by Human Performance Specialists, Tempe, Arizona, in 2008. Study conducted on test subjects taking one dose of Super Charge® before one workout, compared to control group. The SC4 group enjoyed an 82% increase in pre-workout mental energy and a 39% increase in bench press reps. *See 10/26, Feb 2009, Smith et al.
