

The eyes are the window to the soul. As we humans age, our eyes are weakened and damage due to environmental factors such as ultraviolet (UV) sunlight, toxic chemical exposure and free radicals from our unhealthy diet. Medical scientists discovered a class of naturally occurring pigments called Carotenoids that contain powerful antioxidants properties that are crucial to our eye health. More recently, researches have discovered a group of beneficial compounds called Anthocyanin that are beneficial for the function of improving vision, promoting blood circulation and protecting eye health. Our Eye Health formula supports eye conditions such as Cataract, Glaucoma, age related Macular Degeneration, dry eyes and eye fatigue and support overall immune function.
