Support for Joints & Cartilage Health[†]

Sulfate

Articular cartilage is a specialized tissue that is found in joints and is a very important component to support joint function.*

In joint support applications, Chondroitin has been shown to support joint fluids.* It is a key component in the structure of joints.*

A source of organic sulfur, MSM is an important ingredient in the support of the connective tissue matrix and may be valuable in the synthesis of glycosaminoglycans (Chondroitin).*

Hyaluronic Acid

This primary component is the backbone of the body's joint lubrication fluids.*

Collagen is a major structural protein. It provides structure to the body by protecting and supporting the softer tissues and connecting them to the body.* Type II Chicken Sternum Collagen has been studied for its ability to support joint health. It is also a good natural source of Chondroitin Sulfate.

Boron Glycinate, Boswellia serrata, Grape Seed, and White Willow Bark In combination, these synergistic ingredients are designed to support the action of Arthri-Flex.*
