Truth In Labeling – A Truly Independent Program

NSF is an independent, not-for-profit testing organization offering true product testing of dietary supplements. NSF does not simply evaluate test data submitted by manufacturers or analyze just a single sample of a product and give it an okay. They conduct product testing in their own accredited laboratories to ensure that the actual contents of the supplement product match those printed on the label.

Components of the NSF Certification Program

There are three main components of the NSF Dietary Supplements Certification Program:

- Verification that the contents of the supplement actually match what is printed on the label
- Assurance that there are no ingredients present in the supplement that are not openly disclosed on the label
- Assurance that there are no unacceptable levels of contaminants present in the supplement

Consumer Benefits

If you use a dietary supplement that has been certified by NSF, you can be confident that the contents of your supplement are being regularly checked by one of the most respected certifiers in the world. With NSF certification, you get the continued assurance that only NSF's ongoing testing programs can provide. Unlike some other programs, NSF conducts annual audits and periodically retests each dietary supplement product to ensure continued compliance against the toughest testing standard in existence today.

Suggested Use: As a dietary supplement, take 2 capsules daily, or take as directed by your health care professional. Best results obtained with daily use.
