

Somatomax® Ultra Concentrate is a dietary supplement used as a nighttime formula to enhance natural sleep and to assist the body in the release of natural hormonal compounds, including growth hormone (hGH). Improved sleep also supports a muscle building program by improving recovery times, and staying out of a catabolic state. Somatomax® Ultra Concentrate is used by many people as a daytime formula, in lesser serving amounts, to support enhanced energy and mental alertness, promote an elevated mood, support increased libido and a heightened sexual experience, promote tranquility and relaxation, and induce a remarkable, feel-good experience.

In conjunction with proper diet and exercise, Somatomax® Ultra Concentrate may also contribute to an increase in muscle and a reduction in fat. Somatomax® Ultra Concentrate stimulates hGH and modulates cortisol, which may make Somatomax® Ultra Concentrate a particularly effective supplement for athletes desiring to increase muscle mass and may provide the following benefits:

- Increased muscle and decreased body fat;
- Increased energy and work capacity;
- Increased libido and sexual energy;
- Increased IGF-1 levels and bone density;
