

Intestinal and Digestive System Support

The body's metabolic processes result in waste products that need to be removed from the body. Cleansing and detoxification of the body promote good health and general well-being. Herbs and nutritional supplements can be used to nourish and detoxify the body, especially the body systems that are heavily involved with metabolic processes. Liquid Cleanse is designed to be a gentle cleansing product for the colon. It has a pleasing raspberry flavor and is easier for some to swallow than tablets, capsules, and thick fiber drinks.

RECOMMENDATION

Take one ounce (30 ml) daily, as part of your personal cleansing program.
