Our Saw Palmetto extract is standardized for 85 - 95% fatty acids and sterols, the active phytochemicals responsible for the herb's beneficial role in supporting normal urinary flow.* Phytochemicals are plant-derived compounds that have protective properties.* The phytochemicals within Saw Palmetto are believed to decrease the activity of enzymes that can affect the prostate.* In addition, by scientifically isolating these active constituents to create a standardized formula, we ensure that they remain at consistent concentration levels with each dose.
