Amino-Amp™

Branched Chain Amino Acids (leucine, isoleucine, and valine) are critical building blocks for muscle during and after the punishing effects of intense training.¹ Power through workouts and accelerate your muscle gains with iSatori's Amino-Amp™. Fortified with the anabolic activator, leucine, and fueled by MethioMax™ methionine (the amino acid that initiates all new protein strands), Amino-Amp provides the ultimate formula for people who want to maximize the body's ability to rebuild muscle.²

More on MethioMax™

While BCAAs, especially leucine, are strong activators of specific pathways within the protein synthesis sequence, the addition of MethioMax methionine ensures the entire sequence is strongly supported.³ Methionine provides the "start" message for the initiation of muscle protein synthesis and also provides the processing to make the proteins physiologically active.⁴ So, Amino-Amp not only provides the essential branched chain amino acids necessary for muscle growth but also provides the critical amino acid methionine to help you maximize gains and minimize your recovery time.⁵
