ENZYME IMPORTANCE

Enzymes are vital not only for the digestive process, but for overall health.* They help protein break down into amino acids, carbohydrates into simple sugars and fat into fatty acids that your body absorbs as nutrients. However, we may not have all the essential enzymes we need for optimal digestion. In fact, enzyme production naturally decreases with age, which is why many individuals experience more frequent digestive issues as they get older.

ADVANCED ENZYME ACTIVITY...
EFFICIENT DIGESTION

Digest HPE™ contains 13 distinct, naturally derived protein, carbohydrate and fat-digesting enzymes including those not naturally produced by the body, such as Cellulase, Bromelain and Papain. Along with Amylase, Protease, Lipase and Lactase, these enzymes work at high-activity levels, providing advanced nutrient absorption benefits to the overall digestive process.* Digest HPE™ gives you the "enzyme edge" to feel better about the foods you enjoy...with every meal, every day.*

DIGEST HPE™

Digestive issues require a serious response, and supplementing your diet with Digest HPE™ may help.* Digest HPE™ is an intensive strength complex of 13 bio-active, naturally derived enzymes that aid in more thorough and efficient digestion.* This advanced formula was specifically developed to deliver a broad spectrum of enzymes at high activity levels, which help break down the foods we take in so we can feel better about what we eat.*

Enzymes play a critical role in the digestive process and since we naturally produce enzymes at different levels, many of us can use some extra help.* Because we digest our foods differently, it is common to experience digestive issues related to protein, carbohydrate, fat or fiber. Without proper digestion, undigested food simply passes through the gastrointestinal tract inefficiently, leaving your digestive system feeling unsettled and out of balance. Digest HPE™ provides an easy option to help support optimal digestive health, so you can feel good with every meal, everyday.*
